

National Conference on male victims of domestic abuse

'A victim is a victim regardless of gender, race or sexuality'

10 October 2013

With one in six men likely to suffer domestic violence in their lifetime and one in three domestic abuse victims being male, there is a growing need to ensure men and their children receive support in their community from local organisations in the statutory, private or third sector. For statutory agencies it is a requirement (public sector equality duty) to ensure there is support available for male victims.

This conference will feature a range of professionals and academics working across the domestic abuse sector. They will highlight how you can help to ensure male victims and their children in your local community can be supported as well as explaining the experiences and barriers those victims face.

Conference Chair:

Ian McNicholl, domestic abuse survivor and Honorary Patron

This conference is being organised by the ManKind Initiative charity.

Date:

Thursday 10 October 2013 (9.30am to 4.30pm)

Venue:

MARS Conference Centre
3D Dundee Rd, Slough, Berkshire, SL1 4LG
<http://tinyurl.com/caenmug>

Slough is easily accessible by road, rail and air. By rail (30 mins on average from London Paddington or Reading), just off the M4 (Junction 6) and close to Heathrow. Free parking available at centre (you need to include car registration on booking form).

Cost:

£75 per place for statutory agency, housing associations and private sector organisations. (£160 for three places)

£35 per place for (non-housing association) voluntary/third sector organisations. (£75 for three places)

Lunch/coffee included

Booking:

A booking form can be downloaded via www.mankind.org.uk/conference.html or by emailing conference@mankind.org.uk.

You can just also register your interest via conference@mankind.org.uk

Programme:

Available at www.mankind.org.uk/conference