GORMLESS FEMINIST OF THE MONTH

J4MB presents the February 2016 Gormless Feminist of the Month award to Dr Rainbow Murray, Reader in Politics at Queen Mary University of London, in recognition of her very silly article about the Women's Equality Party in The Conversation. A taster:

The party primarily targets women voters from across the political spectrum who are tired of being excluded from the political process. Fewer than 30% of British MPs are female, even though more than half the population are women. The neglect of women's needs in mainstream politics is the driving impetus both for the founding of the party and for its rapid influx of members.

She followed up her article with gormless tweets after I'd informed her of this award, including:

I'm delighted to have been nominated as "gormless feminist of the month" by virulently misogynist @MikeBuchanan11

A list of all the Gormless Feminist of the Month award winners is here. Sophie Walker, leader of the Women's Equality Party, has won our Lying Feminist of the Month award twice, as has Sandy Toksvig, party spokeswoman.
