

LYING FEMINIST OF THE MONTH

Gloria De Piero MP

J4MB presents Gloria De Piero, Shadow Minister for Women and Equalities, with her second Lying Feminist of the Month award, in recognition of two posters about domestic violence in the window of her constituency office. One portrays a cowering women, and has the phone number of a helpline that assists female victims only, while the other portrays a sinister-looking male perpetrator.¹ This relentless feminist portrayal of domestic violence is a lie. 300+ studies and reports show that women are at least as physically aggressive towards opposite-sex partners as men, or more aggressive.² British Crime Surveys consistently report that around two in five victims of domestic violence are men, being assaulted by women.

Two other posters in the window caught our eyes. Roughly the same number of men die from prostate cancer, as women die from breast cancer. Men pay 72% of the income taxes collected in the UK, women only 28%.³ £250m p.a. is spent on national screening programmes for breast cancer and cervical cancer. There are no screening programmes for any male-specific cancers. If we had an award for 'Heartless Feminist of the Month', Gloria De Piero would win that, too.
